Aurora Public Schools will open a third child development center in the Meadowood neighborhood in August 2011. The center will serve new families as well as children currently enrolled in APS preschool programs at neighborhood elementary schools and at the Meadowood Community Center. In addition to students enrolled in the Colorado Preschool Program, a limited number of tuition-based slots will be offered.

The new center was funded with bond dollars approved by Aurora voters in 2008. To learn more about bond projects, visit http://bond.aurorak12.org/.
